2022 – 2023

Special Educational Needs Information Report ('School Offer')
Great Clacton C of E Junior School
A Diocese of Chelmsford Vine School's Trust School

This SEND information report forms part of the Essex 'Local Offer' for learners with Special Educational Needs and Disabilities (SEND).

At Great Clacton C of E Junior School, we believe that all students should be able to make the best possible progress at school and we are committed to ensuring that the necessary provision is made for any pupil who has SEND. We support pupils with SEND to be included in all aspects of school life.

Admissions for pupils with an Education and Health Care Plan are dealt with the local Statutory Assessment Service. For pupils with additional needs but without an EHCP, applications will be considered using the procedures set out in the School Admissions Policy, which can be found on the school website.

Who is responsible for Special Educational Needs and Disabilities provision in our school?

'High quality teaching, differentiated for individual pupils, is the first step in responding to pupils who have or may have SEN' (SEND Code of Practice 2015)

Within our school, class teachers are each responsible and accountable for the progress and development of the pupils in their classes, through a broad and balanced curriculum. We also recognise that children progress at different rates and therefore, highly personalised academic and pastoral provision ensures that children are supported to achieve their personal potential.

All staff are responsible for SEND provision in our school, including those within the following roles:

- Mrs K. Jones, Executive Head-Teacher and Deputy Designated Safeguarding Lead
- Mrs. T. Finney, Head of School and Deputy Designated Safeguarding Lead
- Mrs K. Nunn, Special Educational Needs Coordinator
- Mr. L. Caffull, Lower School Phase Leader and Mathematics coordinator
- Miss C. Watts, Upper School Phase Leader and English coordinator
- Class Teachers
- Mrs. A. Davidson, Pastoral Team Manager and Designated Safeguarding Lead

SEND information and provision is shared with the Local Schools Board.

Special Educational Needs and provision is categorised under four broad areas. We plan and provide for each of these in a variety of ways as outlined within this document:

- Communication and interaction
- Cognition and learning
- Social, mental and emotional health

- Sensory and/or physical

Identifying the special educational needs of pupils

As providers of junior education (7-11), some children may have had a special educational need identified prior to joining Great Clacton C of E Junior School. We will always endeavour to communicate with a child's previous school (s) to ensure a clear, high quality transition that best meets a child's needs.

Upon entering our school community, all pupils are assessed for their Maths, Reading, Reading comprehension and Spelling ages and their phonics baseline information where appropriate. These assessments are repeated incrementally throughout the pupil's time at our school (as per our assessment policy), and monitored closely as an indicator of an established or arising SEND need.

At different times in their school life, a child or young person may have a special educational need.

The Code of Practice defines SEND as follows:

“A child or young person has SEN if they have a learning difficulty or disability which calls for special educational provision to be made for him or her. A child of compulsory school age or a young person has a learning difficulty or disability if he or she:

- a) has a significantly greater difficulty in learning than the majority of others the same age, or
- b) has a disability which prevents or hinders him or her from making use of facilities of a kind generally provided for others of the same age in mainstream schools on mainstream post - 16 institutions”.

Where pupils progress is significantly slower than that of their peers, or fails to match their previous rate of progress, despite high quality teaching targeted at specific areas of difficulty, it may be that the child has SEN.

To inform the identification process, information will be gathered, including seeking the views of parents and the pupil, as well as from teachers and assessments.

The following are examples of assessments that may be used when identifying SEN:

- Baseline assessment information – reading ages/comprehension ages/spelling ages/maths ages
- Teacher/LSA identification through observation and feedback
- Tracking progress through intervention groups
- Pupil Asset analysis
- CPOMS analysis
- Phonics screening
- Literacy assessments
- Maths assessments
- Provision guidance banding descriptors
- Therapists feedback eg. Speech and Language

There can be many reasons for learners 'falling behind'. These may include absences, attending lots of different schools, difficulties with speaking or understanding English or worries that distract them from learning. At Great Clacton C of E Junior School, we understand that children who experience these barriers to learning are vulnerable. This does not mean that all vulnerable learners have SEN. Our criteria for pupils being on the SEND register is that they were on the SEND register at their previous school and that there is good evidence for this to continue or, that baseline assessments show that a pupil is significantly behind their age-related expectations AND for one or more of the following to apply:

- The child has a diagnosis of a life-long condition or disorder which impacts upon their learning.
- The child has previously been seen by external professionals, such as, Paediatrics, the Specialist Teacher team, Educational Psychologists etc and there is a need for input to continue.
- Termly assessments show a significant lack of progress, or a significant dip in learning.

Additionally, pupils with a life-long condition (such as ADHD or ASD), which may at some point impact upon their learning, are also placed on our SEND register.

What arrangements are there for consulting with parents of children with Special Educational Needs and Disabilities and involving them in their child's education?

At Great Clacton C of E Junior School, we believe that high quality communication with parents and carers of all children, including those with SEND, leads to the best academic and personal outcomes for each individual child. We have a number of formal and informal means of communicating with parents of children with SEN:

What is our approach to teaching children and young people with SEND?

At Great Clacton C of E Junior School, our curriculum has been designed to meet the demographic of our learning community. Our teaching and learning is designed to inspire, engage and promote the skills needed to become citizens of our community and into their next stages of life. We understand that children make the best progress when lessons are active and engaging, and we strive to ensure that all teaching and learning encompasses this. In addition:

- We have effective management systems and procedures for SEND, taking into account the current Code of Practice (2014)
- We have high quality communication between teachers, children with SEND, parents of children with SEND, intervention leaders and outside agencies
- We acknowledge and draw on parents' knowledge and expertise in relation to their own child
- Through a 'child centred' planning approach, children with SEN are encouraged to take an increasingly active role in their review cycle, in line with their readiness to do so
- We work with our local partner school network, within our Child First Trust network and within our community of Vine Trust Schools
- We are committed to developing the knowledge and skills of all staff to manage and embrace the challenges of the range of needs within our school and to ensure that all support is of high quality
- We have an effective review cycle that allows us to monitor, review and plan for next steps of development
- We ensure that consideration of SEN crosses all curriculum areas and all aspects of teaching and learning
- Citizenship skills, supported by our school's Christian Values, our Zones of Regulation and our school vision of 'Let Your Light Shine' is embedded in everything we do, for every learner.

If a child is identified as having a special educational need, we will provide support that is 'additional to' or 'different from' the differentiated approaches and learning arrangements that are normally provided and part of high quality, personalised teaching intended to overcome the barrier to their learning. We have a variety of ways to deliver this, including:

- High Quality Teaching
- A graduated approach to provision
- Research-based intervention programmes
- 1:1 support as school decides is appropriate, in consultation with parents
- Response to specialist outside agencies
- Extensive pastoral support

When providing support that is 'additional to' or 'different from', we engage in a four-stage process; Assess, Plan, Do, Review:

- Assess - this involves taking into consideration all the information with discussions with parents or carers, the child, the class teacher and assessments
- Plan - this stage identifies the barriers to learning, intended outcomes and details what additional support will be provided to help overcome the barriers. Decision will be recorded on a 'Support Plan' and will inform the basis of termly review meetings
- Do - providing the support, extra assistance for learning or learning aids, as set out in the plan
- Review – measuring the impact of support provided and considering whether changes to that support need to be made. All of those involved – the child, their parents or carers, class teacher and the SENCo contribute to this review. This stage then informs the next cycle, if necessary.

How are adaptations made to the curriculum and the learning environment for children and young people with SEND?

Great Clacton C of E Junior School, was built in the 1960s and comprises of the main building with classrooms spread over two floors with the upstairs classrooms accessed by a flight of stairs. A separate, single story building accommodate three further classrooms. Within the constraints of the physical building, there are a number of reasonable adaptations that can be made to the learning environment including:

- Ramps make most of the site accessible
- A toilet adapted for pupils with physical disabilities
